

Lawyer Heads Teamster Scan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Court-named monitors have started a major crackdown to reform James R. Hoffa's scandal-ridden teamsters union.

JAMES HOFFA

The drive is being steered by Martin F. O'Donoghue, a veteran labor lawyer who for a time last fall represented the union in a suit against it. He told a reporter, "I'm going to call 'em as I see 'em. If they don't like it, let them blow their tops."

O'Donoghue and two fellow monitors issued clean-up orders Wednesday aimed at teamsters' locals in New York, Philadelphia and Springfield, Mo.

Hoffa, teamsters president just acquitted on wire-tapping conspiracy charges, has called a meeting of the national union's executive board here next Monday. Union leaders will have to decide whether to go along with O'Donoghue or buck him.

Two members of the 15-man executive board are involved in the New York and Philadelphia locals subject to monitor orders. The Philadelphia local is led by Ray Cohen. He invoked the Fifth Amendment 50 times in April in refusing to tell the Senate racketeering committee how he handled more than $500,000 of union funds. He also was accused of ordering protesting union men beaten up.

He is a national teamsters vice-president. The monitors have an outside auditing firm going over Cohen's books and have recommended the teamsters initiate ouster proceedings against him.

Indians Plan Hotel Chain

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India is planning to set up a chain of hotels in the neighborhood of historic ruins and monuments to accommodate foreign tourists.

Thousands of tourists visit places like the Ellora caves, the frescoes of Ajanta, the temples of Madurai and Tiruchirappalli, and other historical places, but the ancient ruins of Khajuraho many of these areas are handicapped by lack of proper hotel accommodation.

A government-appointed committee which studied the condition of the hotel industry in India recommended good hotels be set up in these places of tourist interest.

Forest Fire Hazards Reduced; Loggers Troop Back To Work

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forty-eight hours of scattered rain were enough to send lumber workers trooping back into the forests of Vancouver Island and the British Columbia coast Wednesday.

For the moment it reduced the threat of forest fires in the Vancouver fire district, but in the northern Prince George district, storms lashed old fires into new fury without making any appreciable difference in the critical hazard.

The Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island and much of the southwestern part of the province, has been under a partial industrial closure for a week and all unauthorized woods travel in the area is banned.

The industrial closure forbids working in the woods between 1 p.m. and midnight, the time when fire hazards are highest.

Wednesday was the final day of the B.C. Electric hearings. B.C. Electric is asking that industrial power rates be increased an average of 20 per cent, wholesale commercial power 12 per cent, retail commercial five to 10 per cent, and residential power 12 per cent except for users whose monthly bills are $3 a month or less.

The commission heard argument by the City of Vancouver for at least temporary refusal of the application.

Corporation counsel Russell Baker spoke for the city and BCE vice-president and general counsel A. Bruce Robertson argued for the company.

An appeal against the increase also came from J. S. Johanson, representing the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, Plywood Manufacturers Association of B.C. and Consolidated Red Cedar Shingle Association of B.C.

A similar submission was made in a letter from the B.C. division, Canadian Manufacturers Association.

Dr. Angus said that some briefs stated no increase in rates would be needed if provision for deferred income tax was disregarded as an expense and the action of the federal government in the Bell Telephone case April 29 was quoted.

Court Rules Sommers Must Face All 25 Bribery Charges

Involved Trial Now "Lawyer's Dream"

BULLETIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson today ruled that 24 bribery counts against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers and seven other accused will stand in an amended prosecution indictment under the old Criminal Code. This means 25 charges—including one of conspiracy which the judge Wednesday allowed to stand—now are levelled against eight accused. The defence has indicated it will move to quash all of the counts.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sommers trial has become a lawyer's dream, involving some of the most complicated points of law.

The case against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers and seven other accused could proceed on only one charge—that of conspiracy—or on a total of 25, including 24 counts of bribery. Or it could end quickly with all charges wiped out.

The issues may be resolved today, the effect of the Crown's action points of law which will be decided by the presiding judge.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ruled after hearing defence and prosecution argument that the lone remaining conspiracy count in an amended indictment should stand. But he put off a decision on the validity of the remaining 24 counts of bribery.

Should his lordship decide to dismiss the 24 bribery counts, the defence is prepared to argue against the remaining conspiracy count on the grounds that if the bribery counts supporting the conspiracy charge cannot be pressed, then neither can the count of conspiracy.

Mr. Justice Wilson made his ruling after hearing arguments from six defence lawyers and prosecutor Victor Dryer on day.

Previously the 38 counts—two of conspiracy and 36 of bribery—were laid under the new criminal code which became effective in April 1955. The judge noted that all the alleged offences took place before that date.

Legal argument on the remaining 24 bribery counts revolves mainly around a limitation section of the old code which stipulates that there can be no conspiracy charge cannot be pressed, then neither can the count of conspiracy.

23 New Canadians Sworn In Colorful City Ceremony

The Union Jack added color to a simple yet solemn ceremony conducted in the Kelowna court house Wednesday, the fourth day of Citizenship Week in Canada. Judge Gordon Lindsay of Vernon heard 23 men and women, from eight different countries swear allegiance to Canada and her sovereign Elizabeth II.

Bibles provided by the British and Foreign Bible Society were kissed in unison by the group, which was composed predominantly of young people. The newly-naturalized Canadians were invited to retain the Bibles by Lieut. Alvin Jarvie of the Salvation Army, both as a memento of the occasion and as a guidebook for a happy life.

Brief addresses of welcome and advice were made by Judge Lindsay, Lieut. Jarvie and R. M. Hayman to the newcomers.

URGES CHARACTER — Son of an English immigrant who came to Canada at the turn of the century and settled in the Okanagan, Mr. Hayman admonished the group to enjoy the benefits, beauty and freedom of their adopted land. He suggested, however, that care be taken in the forming of associates.

"Strength," he said, "is a necessary quality." But he pointed out that "a man is judged by the company he keeps," and stressed that it often requires a strong character to avoid making wrong friendships.

A lawyer, Robert Hayman referred to the courts and police department as being sources of equity to every Canadian who abides by the laws of the country. He also made mention of the many freedoms to be enjoyed here.

In addition to naturalization certificates, the new citizens were presented with special IODE certificates from representatives Mrs. J. E. Marty and Mrs. J. H. Panten.

Included in the group of new Canadians, were eight from Holland, eight from Poland, three from Japan, and one each from Switzerland, Rumania, the Ukraine and Italy.

LATE FLASHES

TERRACE (CP) — Two young men held up a Royal Bank of Canada branch here today and escaped with an estimated $12,000.

RCMP said they believe the bandits are hiding out in a heavily wooded area about three-quarters of a mile south of this northern B.C. city. A posse was searching the area and a private airplane flew overhead in hopes of spotting the wanted men.

Tornadoes Rip Ontario; Damage Hits Thousands

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Two half the roof of a service station pocket tornadoes crashed through nine of his 21 two towns in the Windsor district Wednesday. There were no injuries, but damage was counted in the hundreds of thousands.

The first hit La Salle, eight miles southwest of here, in early afternoon. Hundreds watched it tear up trees, toss roofs about and damage greenhouses.

The second struck later at Leamington, 34 miles southeast of here, and caused damage of more than $50,000 to one of the largest groups of greenhouses in Canada.

Torrential rains and 65-mile-an-hour winds that accompanied the twisters were believed to have caused heavy crop damage, but no official estimates were made.

Sam Shostack, owner of the Leamington greenhouses, said streets hurried into shops.

Prober Holds B.C. Electric Free To Defer Income Tax

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Public Utilities Commission cannot refuse to allow B.C. Electric or any other utility to include provision for deferred income taxes among expenses when applying for rate increases, Dr. Henry F. Angus, PUC chairman, said Wednesday.

The commission cannot refuse, Dr. Angus said, despite the fact the federal cabinet did so in the case of a Bell Telephone Company application.

He said the federal government, as the income tax creditor, was in a position to grant relief if deferred corporation taxes should become payable.

Wednesday was the final day of the B.C. Electric hearings. B.C. Local Restaurants Claim They Can Handle Crowd

On May 20th, in this column, the point was raised whether or not the local restaurants were in a physical position to handle the crowds which would require food on July 19th, bridge opening day.

At that time we said: "Taking the most tenuous view of the situation, it seems impossible for the local restaurants to handle the crowd and the people seeking food. This newspaper entirely agrees that local restaurants should have the first opportunity of reaping any benefits from this business. They provide a year-round service and they pay taxes. However the question is whether they can handle the crowds. We are inclined to doubt it, and wonder if this matter has ever been seriously discussed by the restaurant association. Admittedly, we could be wrong, but our impression is that the demand for food on July 19th is going to be much greater than our ordinary channels can cope with. We have a feeling that additional facilities are going to be needed."

Apparently we need not have worried. Apparently our assumption was wrong.

On Tuesday night Mr. Eric Loken, president of the local restaurant association, assured a meeting, chaired by His Worship the Mayor, that the 24 local restaurants have facilities which could provide meals for thirty thousand, 30,000, people on that day.

Mr. Loken stated that a careful check had demonstrated that in the immediate Kelowna area, there were two thousand, two hundred and forty-eight, (2,248) restaurant seats and that in addition at the drive-ins there is further accommodation.

He pointed out that, allowing an average of twenty minutes for a serving, each seat could be turned over ten times during the normal day. In other words that some 22,480 people could be served in local restaurants. Through extended hours and the sale of box lunches, the group estimated that it could cater for 30,000 people during the day.

Mr. Loken also told the meeting that his organization frowned upon meals being served by organizations without proper refrigeration capacity as there was a danger of food poisoning under such conditions during the hot weather.

The restaurant people are to be congratulated upon the manner in which they have taken hold of the problem. There were indeed few people in Kelowna who had the faintest conception that the local restaurants had such a capacity.

Obviously to attain this capacity they found it necessary to depart from their normal routine. They plan to do so through the curtailment of their normal menus, the sale of box lunches, enlargement of staffs, and the extension of hours. The restaurants will not only be opened longer hours, they will also be staggered so that some will be open after midnight.

All this would suggest that the fears of this newspaper and of many people were entirely without foundation. The restaurant people have assured us they can handle 30,000 people during the day. They are in a position to know and they give us this assurance. That should be sufficient.

It is nice, indeed, to know that our friends and visitors will not go hungry!

OUT OF THE DOGHOUSE

Higher Tariff Concerns U.K.

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent For The Daily Courier

LONDON—British reaction to the Canadian budget for the fiscal year of 1958-1959 shows a feeling of disappointment with regard to the tariff changes announced by the Hon. Donald Fleming, minister of finance. There is particular concern over the decision to increase tariffs on imported wool fabrics. Export of wool textiles to Canada constitute an important factor in providing Britain with Canadian dollars. They are also of importance in keeping the British wool industries busy.

The increase in tariffs is considered a hard blow by the Yorkshire wool industries. In a statement issued when the terms of the budget were made known in Britain, the National Wool Textile Executive, in Bradford, Yorkshire, said: "It is unsatisfactory that the Canadian government should impose immediate duties in spite of the strong protests of Her Majesty's Government, but be prepared to re-negotiate with non-British countries."

The statement goes on to point out that since the last tariff inquiry in 1954, the Canadian wool industry had increased its employment, productivity and production, although it maintained it had been losing money. This loss was true, however, the statement goes on, only in the sections where foreign countries, such as Italy, had increased their penetration of the Canadian market fourfold. Britain wool exports to Canada so far this year have been running well below the 1957 level.

Geoffrey Hurst, a Conservative M.P., comes out with the blunt statement that the increased Canadian tariffs were a blow at mainly at the United States, there is some apprehension that a strict application of anti-dumping duties might make Canadian markets, especially in textiles, more difficult of entry to British exporters.

The London Times regards the Canadian budget as "anti-recession" budgeting, and features in its headlines the fact that it provides for Canada's "biggest peace-time deficit."

Commonwealth unity. This coincides with a general feeling that the Canadian government has not enhanced the prospects for success in the forthcoming trade conference in Ottawa by increasing tariffs while plans for the conference agenda are being worked out here in London.

There has also been some concern over the raising of the tariff on gas pipelines imported from Britain from five to ten per cent, but this is modified by the tariff on pipeline imported from the United States being raised to 15 per cent. It is felt that Britain can still secure its fair share of this business, in spite of the fact that Canada is now developing its own production of pipelines.

On the other side, the provision that visitors to Britain now take back to Canada $300 of goods duty-free, instead of the $100 previously allowed is regarded with great favor. Since visitors from Canada very rarely come more than once a year to Britain, while they can and do go to the United States frequently and could take home $100 of duty-free goods three times a year, this change in the regulations, so far as Britain is concerned, equalizes the situation. Firms interested in developing greater purchases by tourists from Canada, see in this change possibilities of stepping up by a considerable amount the dollars left in Britain by visitors.

Exporters over here look with an anxious eye to Mr. Fleming's announcement that the customs act would be amended to deal more strictly with "dumping" of goods on the Canadian market. While the anti-dumping provisions would probably be directed

LETTER TO EDITOR

CAMP SITES

Editor,
The Daily Courier,
Kelowna.

Dear Sir:

A newspaper editor plays a traditionally important role in the formation of public opinion. That being so I feel obliged to dispute your recommendation in today's edition that campsites should be kept free of charge.

Mr. Westwood, our minister of recreation, is investigating a charge for the use of campsites because of a protest that originated here in Kelowna. If you had known this, perhaps you would have had the courtesy to ask the local group affected for an explanation of their attitude, before you took a position contrary to the interests of this growing, local industry. Opposite, in their opinion, to the interests of free enterprise itself.

There are a few people in our valley who earn their living by renting space to campers. True, it has never been big business until the last few years. Now, however, camping is in fashion, and these few began to anticipate a real volume of business at last, after patient years of pioneering. At this point the government stepped in, with unlimited capital, and began building huge campsites in good locations in the best resort areas in the province. Not in established provincial parks mark you, of which there were quite a few, but in new locations. Notably the Okanagan and Qalquicum, to be followed by the Kootenays and Shuswap. All areas well served by private enterprise quite ready to expand, as business warranted.

The Okanagan Lake camp was instantly popular with B.C. people and non-residents alike. The same popularity which will eventually fill our valley to the brim six months of the year or more. Unfortunately, our little capitalist, compelled by necessity to charge 50c or $1 for his accommodation, was suddenly in competition with a benevolent giant who provided the same facilities for nothing. Not only that, the benevolent giant continued to collect taxes from the little capitalist to help pay the cost.

Unable to launch much of a protest by himself, our small businessman sought help from others, in an allied industry, who might be expected to recognize a potential rival when they saw one. These people (auto courts and resorts), having read of the growth of state resorts in Russia and having watched the rise and immediate fall of state resorts in our intensely democratic neighbor to the south, quickly gave their support. Feeble for sure, but sure of its precedents. Through their provincial association it was brought to the attention of the department of recreation that this free competition was not entirely democratic.

It was pointed out that not all of our people use these campsites, yet all are taxed for their support. It was suggested that, unless closely supervised, these campsites would surely degenerate into very poor publicity for our province. Hoodlumism has already occurred at more than one. What could be more reasonable than to charge the niggling fee your abhor, for the purpose of providing supervision, assured cleanliness and protection from the rare but inevitable drunken party.

It was then tactfully suggested that the government should consider not only a small charge to defray the cost of sensible operation, but another small charge to be paid by those who use the camps in order to spare those who don't, the substantial cost of acquiring the land and constructing the improvements.

It was then suggested, even more delicately, that perhaps the government had no business competing with private industry anyway, and that they might therefore consider surrendering these operations to responsible individual owners. At a fair price, of course.

In answer to your question "why charge residents for something that is their own?" I would ask, why charge for lumber? Minerals? Fish? You cannot class highly developed services with the air we breathe, scenery or sunshine. Nor can we afford to confuse modern campsites, marinas or government-owned motels (which do exist!) with the time-honored government park wilderness.

Tourist accommodation is a business. In the case of the Okanagan it will grow to be a big business, benefitting every wage earner and general businessman in the valley. Payment for a service rendered is as natural and fundamental as the nickel for your paper.

How would you feel about a government press?

Sincerely,
J. A. McPHERSON.

Why All The Fear?

The Printed Word looks with some alarm to the security measures which the United States will take during the impending visit of President Eisenhower to this country. Judging from past experience when other U.S. notables came here, there is some need for concern. But we'll let the Printed Word argue its own point.

"A private citizen whose business takes him to Ottawa frequently reports that on a recent occasion, as he was about to enter the Centre Block of the House of Commons, two over-sized individuals pushed him aside to make way for Mr. John Foster Dulles, who was just leaving the building. This probably comes under the head of strong-arm diplomacy.

"The incident of several months ago comes to mind with the report that President Eisenhower has graciously accepted the invitation of Prime Minister Diefenbaker to visit the capital city of Canada. What also comes to mind is that when President Truman visited Ottawa at the end of the war, his guards searched, without warrant, every house along the line of march, including clothes closets, attics and cellars.

"It may be hoped that the intrusion will be avoided, that if the efficient Royal Canadian Mounted Police are deemed to be unable to protect a dangerous visitor, there will not be an ostentatious revelation of the degree to which the United States feels it must go in protecting its public figures. The streets of Ottawa can be policed with Canadian police."

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Gen. Nasser Cannot Afford Crisis In Lebanon General

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BEIRUT (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, the evidence indicates, is frightened.

The torment of Lebanon may mean a big general crisis is yet to come. Nasser cannot afford such a crisis.

Often he is called the lucky dictator. Things have broken well for him through the crises which have marked his rule. But Nasser has been pushing his luck.

I have just completed a swing through virtually all the Arab East. One impression stands out. Among young intellectuals, from whom Nasser has drawn much of his strength, doubt is setting in.

But his biggest concern must be for the Egyptian economy. Sooner or later Egypt will need help to get out of her progressively worsening economic situation.

Nasser and the Russians seem to be sizing up one another carefully—neither willing to trust the other too far. The Soviet treatment of Yugoslavia and the execution of Hungarian revolution leaders had a noticeable effect among Egypt's thinking population.

in clear victory for elements he supports. Nasser will have to pursue the advantage elsewhere or surrender the momentum gained by extreme Arab nationalism. Failure to follow up a victory would disillusion Arab extremists who expect him to perform miracles on their behalf.

However, if the Lebanese affair ends in palpable Nasser defeat, it will spell political peril for him and might require desperate responses.

"The Lebanese affair has frightened other Arab leaders. If the Lebanese government survives, supported by Western power, then Nasser finds his United Arab Republic truly isolated in the world of Arabs.

There is no difficulty today in determining that among Egypt's middle class Nasser is no hero. One can hear it in the streets. The small Egyptian middle class in the cities has felt a progressively tightening pinch ever since the 1956 Suez crisis.

There is no question of revolt. Even the middle class seems to feel that Nasser is better than what they had under the corrupt monarchy.

Nasser and his aides seem cognizant of a feeling of cynicism—even bitterness—among middle-class wage earners trying to make $20 Egyptian ($57.60) monthly do the work of $40. Prices are high despite desperate measures to stop inflation and hold back unemployment.

No more than 45 per cent—possibly much less—of Egypt's main crop, cotton, now produces foreign exchange. The rest goes into barter trade with the Communist bloc or in payment for Communist arms.

Impatient young men, thrown into the business of running an economy without knowledge or experience, have wasted money at a frightful rate. Millions of pounds disappeared in well meaning but poorly planned and executed social experiments.

New Hospital Plan Calls On Rural Sharing

By Special
Courier Correspondent

VERNON — Groundwork of organizing a hospital improvement district is being laid. Plans are to enlarge Vernon Jubilee Hospital from its present 105-bed capacity to at least 130 beds, possibly a potential of 150 beds, chairman of the building committee, R. T. M. Collins said.

Initial step is to define the district to be served. This must be approved by the commissioner of water rights in Victoria.

The boundaries of School District 22 (Vernon) are being considered with the possible inclusion of Falkland, Oyama and immediate southern communities and possibly part of the Arrow Lakes area.

The plan is to construct a new wing and enlarge the present building.

TO HOLD MEETINGS

Meetings in the communities concerned will be arranged, from which a trustee will be appointed. Collectively, they will form a board for the hospital improvement district. This in no way conflicts with the present board of trustees, which has a different function entirely.

The Jubilee Hospital has 59 to 60 per cent occupancy, on an average, by patients outside the city—in an institution built by Vernon. Mr. Collins said it seems only fair that the areas served should pay their share.

The federal government will be responsible for $2,000, per bed of the proposed extension, the provincial government will pay 50 per cent of the balance, with the area involved responsible for the remaining 50 per cent.

It is hoped to place a plebiscite before the people in the fall, Mr. Collins said.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT City Acts To Clean Out Bather's Itch

Following complaints received from north end residents, an analysis of water at the Sutherland Beach Park has shown existence of a tiny organism that is causing what is popularly known as bather's itch.

City of Kelowna already has taken measures to clear up the situation, but it will not be known for a few days yet whether the operation was a complete success.

Meanwhile, bathers are advised to stay out of the north end park's water until it is given a clean bill of health.

Kelowna's parks board Tuesday patrolled the area in a slow-moving boat, dragging copper sulphate crystals behind. This remedy was recommended by the South Okanagan Health Unit to rid the water of schistosomes (water flukes), which cause bathers' itch.

Many of those who contacted the health unit complained of discomfort while others who are more sensitive to it developed rash and pimples where they were touched by the organisms.

If anyone is suffering from an extremely aggravated condition, the family physician should be consulted, Dr. D. A. Clarke, SOHU director, advises.

The duration of the itch depends on many factors, including the sensitivity of the victim and the amount of scratching.

Dr. Clarke explained that bathers' itch is fairly common in fresh water lakes on the continent and that it was found in West Summerland last year. Last time it was reported in the Kelowna area was in 1952.

He said the microscopic organism is spread by migratory birds. The schistosomes are excreted by the birds and then enter into water snails to complete their life cycle and lay eggs. Upon maturity the young leave the snails with a small forked tail which makes them free swimming. These are the ones that cause the trouble, penetrating the skin of arms, legs and backs of swimmers.

Dr. Clarke said Cultus Lake, south of Chilliwack, currently is causing a great deal of bathers' itch.

The north end beach is believed to be the only one in this vicinity affected with these parasites at the present time.

Lamp Post Hit; Youthful Driver Will Be Charged

One of Bernard Avenue's centre-street lamp posts was hit by an Alberta car about 8:45 last night but it remained erect and appeared to have suffered little damage.

The auto, driven by a 17-year-old boy, suffered about $250 in damage to the front end. Police said the youth was making a left turn onto Bernard from Bertram when he rammed the post. He is due to appear in juvenile court this afternoon.

Since the city reduced the number of lamp posts in the centre of the street and built higher cement bases, not near so many lamp post collisions have occurred. It has been some time since a post has been knocked over—something that was quite common before the bigger bases were constructed.

KINSMEN POLIO CLINIC SUCCESSFUL

A total of 2,500 persons between the ages of 17 and 50 turned out for the Kelowna Kinsmen Club-sponsored polio clinic at the South Okanagan Health Unit yesterday. In the afternoon, 800 received anti-polio injections and at night an additional 1,700 turned out. Total of six doctors and 18 nurses were on hand, while 20 Kinsmen and Kinettes assisted in registration along with the entire health unit staff.

ficer, injecting an anti-polio shot on Ken Thomson, Okanagan Mission. The baby sitting in his arms seems to be just as happy as his daddy.

Dr. Hector Moir represented the Kelowna Medical Society and was responsible for having the physicians on hand.

The second injection will be given July 9 at the same time and same place.

Kindergarten, Music Pupils Give Recital

Young folk who study music and singing at the Catholic convent here and still younger ones who attend the kindergarten taught by Rev. Sister Catherine Seaton of the Sisters of Charity of Halifax here presented a pleasing and well-received recital at St. Joseph's Hall, Sunday afternoon.

Despite the day being one of the hottest of the year, the hall was nearly full for the two-hour performance.

The kindergarten boys and girls were "show-stealers" at times, with their expert recitations and rhythm band numbers. The program of piano selections by the music pupils of Sister Catherine Seaton were interwoven with several songs by a well-trained girls' choral group.

ORIOLES BLEW THE LEAD

The Summerland Macs figured the game was wrapped up for the Orioles last night, until the champs started pulling stunts in the eighth, and the score was knotted at 5-5, called on account of darkness. Outstanding Track, Field Stars Compete Here Sat.

Local track stars will be facing some pretty tough company this Saturday, when the Ninth Annual Interior Track and Field Championships get under way in City Park on Saturday at 2 p.m. Close to 100 athletes are expected to participate in the 39 events of the meet, which is run under the auspices of the Kelowna Recreation Commission (KART) and sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce this year.

Outstanding event of the meet promises to be the 440, which will pit Kelowna's Jerry Jantz against Sig Olesman of Vancouver and Dave Warr of Kamloops. Jantz, local high school student, recently won the event at the Centennial Track Meet, high school section, in Vancouver. Warr, highly rated to win, finished fourth, and Olesman recently competed in the BEG trials.

Outstanding local competition on the distaff side will be supplied by Lucy Culos, the star sprinter who was narrowly edged out in the 60 yard sprint in the same meet at Vancouver. She will also be a member of the girls' 440 relay team, which placed third in the coast meet.

CLUBS ENTERED

Entries to date include: Haney A.A., Vancouver Olympic, White Rock Track Club, South Burnaby and the Princess Margaret Club, all from the coast; the Trill, Kimberley, Penitence, Vernon, Rossland and Kelowna clubs from the Interior, and the University of Oregon club from the U.S. Snohomish and other Washington centres are expected to enter also, and will be included in the final list of competitors.

There will be an unfortunate dearth of top Canadian talent, but the stars remaining in Vancouver will all appear, and some outstanding talent from the U.S. is anticipated.

SCHOLASTIC MILER

Glen Ferguson, holder of the second best time in the inter-scholastic mile, 4:24.8, will be attending, and he will have plenty of competition from Dick Miller of Oregon University, with times of 4:15 in the mile, and 1:56 in the half.

Merv Lincoln, the Australian "miracle miler," wired from Bakersfield, Calif., saying he would like to attend the meet, but the details of his appearance are still indefinite.

Jack Larson, University of Washington flash, is also planning to attend, officials have learned.

The women's events in the juvenile and mid-level classes will be official Canadian championship events, with any records set in them to be recorded as official.

WOMEN'S MILE

Open track events will include: 120 yd. hurdles; 100 yds., 220 yds., 440 yds., 880 yds., one mile, three miles and 880 medley relay.

Open field events: high jump, broad jump, hop step and jump, shot put, discus, javelin and pole vault.

Women's open events: 80 metre hurdles, 100 yds., 220 yds., 440 relay, discus, shot put, high jump and broad jump.

Women's juvenile events (Canadian championship): 60 yds., 100 yds., 220 yds., 80 metre hurdles; 440 relay, high jump, broad jump, discus, javelin, and shot put.

Women's mid-level events (Canadian championship): 60 yds., 80 yd. hurdles, 440 relay, high jump, broad jump and discus.

COWES, Isle of Wight (AP)—Fifty-six years ago a three-year-old filly named Sceptre burned up the British turf with a record that has not been equalled.

The wonder horse galloped away with the 1,000 Guineas, 2,000 Guineas, Epsom Oaks and St. Leger—four classic victories in one season. Now Britain hopes to see her name for the first time in the America's Cup yacht race next September.

The America's Cup is the trophy British yachtsmen have never won. It was awarded by Queen Victoria for a yacht race off this island town in the English Channel 107 years ago. The U.S. schooner American won the race.

Sceptre Great As A Nag, Now Tries Luck As Yacht took the trophy back to the U.S., renamed it and put it up for international competition.

CONCERTED EFFORT

The cup now is held by the New York Yacht Club. The Sceptre was built by a syndicate of British yachtsmen to make the latest challenge in best-of-seven races off Newport, R.I.

Despite 18 months of preparation, there are doubts at Cowes, headquarters of British yachting, whether the Sceptre will live up to the reputation of its four-legged predecessor.

The Sceptre has turned in some indifferent trial performances. Old salts have watched the yacht—one of the international 12-metre class—frequently outpaced by the pre-war yacht Evinhoe, being used as a trial horse.

British newspapers have made veiled suggestions that the Evinhoe should be sent to the U.S. and not the Sceptre, despite a reported £112,000 expenditure on the project.

But yachting journals have said the crew may deliberately have held the Sceptre back to familiarize themselves with having another large craft alongside.

Marie Has Stuff, Needs Practice

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The man with the clipped British accent said "she stands 75 inches and unquestionably is the best discus thrower among females in the country." If, he added, the Canadian army would only realize this and station her somewhere where she could train for a year she'll win an Olympic medal.

All of this could be very confusing to the layman but the man—Sgt. Maj. Terry Weatherall at Camp Borden, Ont.—was taking a long-range view on the potentialities of Marie Dupree, a six-foot, three black-haired army nursing assistant. It seems that Marie, who comes from South Burnaby, B.C., tosses the discus as if it were a kitchen saucer.

She hurls it farther than any other Canadian woman ever did and, given the opportunity, will hurl it farther than any woman in the world, says the sergeant major.

NEEDS PRACTICE

Miss Dupree, who appeared in Kelowna three years ago at the Interior Track Meet, has been unable to practice assiduously due to her army postings. Weatherall was extremely perturbed about this.

"No," said the sergeant major, "Marie didn't even break her Canadian record of 144 feet 11 1/2 inches. And the only reason is that she has had just one week's training this year."

"But give her time to prepare for the Empire Games, a matter of about three weeks, and she'll win a medal at Cardiff."

The sergeant major talks as if

Cdn Pro-Am Headed By Leonard

TORONTO (CP)—Playing line-ups were announced Wednesday for the international pro-amateur golf match to be held July 1 at Toronto St. George's.

Sixteen players competing in the tournament were placed on two-man teams so that a Canadian amateur and pro meet a United States amateur and pro.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard captains the Canadian squad while Doug Ford heads the American team.

Lineups are:

Dow Finsterwald and amateur Ed Meister of Willowby, Ohio, against John Henrick of Ottawa and amateur Eric Hanson of Toronto.

Paul Harney and Bob Shave of Cleveland, against Jack Kay of Montreal and Hugh Paterson of Toronto.

Julius Boros and Fred Paine of Pittsburgh against Stan Leonard and Gary Cowan of Kitchener.

Doug Ford and Ward Wetlaufer of Buffalo, against Al Balding of Toronto and Nick Westlock of Windsor.

Each match is worth three points; one point on the first nine holes, one for the second nine, and one point for the match.

Last year at Flint, Mich., Canada won by defeating an American team 7 1/2 points to 4 1/2.

Orioles And Macs Beat By Darkness

Last night's twilight ball game in Elks' Stadium was written into the record books as unfinished business.

The Summerland Macs took advantage of the Orioles' "bobbles and bows" in a wacky eighth inning to pull up alongside the defending champs and stay there until the light faded, with the score 5-5.

Umpires Verne Borton and Larry Schlosser called the game at the end of regulation time, with the score knotted, and the two clubs will have to play off the extra innings at their next meeting, possibly the second game of the Dominion Day Baseball Tournament, on Sunday.

The Orioles were sharp on starting things, against pitcher Al Hooker, but they were reluctant to finish them, as they tallied 14 hits for only five runs, and 14 men died on base.

The Macs got to starting pitcher Bill Martino from the outset, and he was replaced by Les Schaefer, but the big right-hander had trouble holding them down after four innings, and Ray Scott came in to finish. Schaefer wasn't helped any by the three bobbles that cost three runs in the eighth.

CONTACT AND HASSLES

Play was dotted with body contact and several hassles, in which peppery George Taylor figured largely. Prime beef came in the sixth, when Harold Biollo bunted and knocked first baseman Dave Gatherum's arm up as he arrived at the base. Schlosser called Biollo out, much to Taylor's voluble disgust.

The first two Macs batters, Biollo and Burton, tagged Martino for singles, Hooker struck out, and Taylor walked, loading bases before the game was minutes old. Biollo came in on Kato's hit, as Burton was forced at third, and Cristante struck out, ending the rally.

Buc Ingelsby walked, Bob Campbell singled and Frank Fritz singled in the Orioles' half of the frame, but the three runs threw a little pepper into the game by going into a three-man hot-box, with Ingelsby getting nailed at home plate, and the rally died.

In the top of the third Hooker walked and Taylor pulled one over second neatly. Kato grounded to Ingelsby, and he tagged Hooker on his way to third, Martino walked the bases full then, and another run in, before Schaefer came in and retired the side.

ORIOLES SURGE

The Orioles started making powerful talk then, as two walked, to be driven along by Gatherum's lovely two-base hit, bringing in Jablonski. Martino was passed, loading the bases, and Kaiser, in for Ingelsby, struck out. Culos walked, bringing in the tying run, and Campbell popped, ending the rally.

The champs added another in the fifth, as the Orioles racked up four hits, with Gatherum's Texas leaguer driving in Ito for the only run.

In the sixth, Campbell singled through short, stole second, and was driven in by Fritz' screaming liner over second. Scott singled in the seventh, and came in when right fielder dropped Kaiser's fly ball, ending the Orioles' scoring in the frame and game.

The Orioles had one out in the eighth when Cristante doubled off the fence, left of centre, and Egely doubled to the right of centre, although Martino touched it with his glove. Chapman hit to right field, and Jablonski muffed the standard fly-ball, bringing two runs in and sending Schaefer to the dug-out.

Seigrist tagged one of Scott's offerings for a slow roller that Fritz failed to make the pick-up on. Biollo's pop-up bunt was caught by Culos, and Burton drove one at Campbell that he hesitated on, lobbing it to Fritz, but Seigrist plowed into him, knocking the ball loose, as the tying run came over the plate, and ending the game scoring as Hooker grounded out to Kaiser.

Rovers Beat Blue Caps; Club 13 Clobber Cent's

The Rutland Rovers slaked their thirst for revenge last night, beating the Blue Caps 9-3 in Rutland, and moving into sole possession of second spot, one game ahead of the 'Caps.

In the other men's softball league action, at King's Stadium, Club 13 clobbered the Centennials by a thumping 20-1 score.

Rovers 9 Blue Caps 3

Dennis Casey knocked out the game's only homer as the Rovers beat the 'Caps, 9-3, but it wasn't enough to make the difference for the juniors.

Earl Portney, Rovers' playing coach, was credited with the win, and Doug Stranaghan came in to finish off the last three innings.

Gib Loseth went seven full innings for the 'Caps, with Harry Klassen finishing off the game.

TIGHT BALL

The clubs played 'tight, low scoring ball most of the way, but the 'Caps flagged in the fourth and fifth, enough to lose the ball game.

The 'Caps started out with a run, following a hit by lead-off batter, Boris Kabatoff, aided by two errors and a hit by Casey for one run.

The 'Caps lead 3-0 going into the bottom half of the third, on Casey's homer and two hits, but the Rovers roared by to tie the score on two hits and three errors in their half.

The Rovers added two in the fourth and three in the fifth, as the 'Caps had a lapse, then tightened up to continue with scoreless frames.

Line score:

Blue Caps 102 000 000—3 7 6
Rovers 030 240 00x—9 8 3

Gal's Russia Fund Goes Over Top

Her coach, Bernard Newman, the $3,200 has been collected and he and "Ernie" leave Saturday for the July 6-11 competition.

The blonde gymnast is Canadian and North American champion.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Barry Cowley pitched the Bruce Paige Little League club to a 7-1 victory over the Willow Inns last night in the LL park on Gascon Avenue and Richter Street.

Mounties Slide, Giants Up Lead

The Phoenix Giants stepped out to a game and a half lead in the Pacific Coast League pennant chase last night, smothering Spokane with home runs while San Diego belted the Vancouver Mounties for the second straight time.

The powerful Giants smashed out four homers, including Dusty Rhodes' grand slammer, in hanging a 16-12 defeat on the Indians.

San Diego's Padres, whipping the Mounties 3-2 on Bud Podbielan's seven-hitter, moved into second place behind Phoenix.

The Mounties slipped to third, two full games off the pace.

The Salt Lake City Bees used five-run seventh inning to stop Portland 6-5 and Seattle's Max Surkont gave the Rainiers a 2-1 victory with a four-hit job on Sacramento's last-place Solons.

Rhodes' blast came in the ninth frame. Don Taussig doubled to start the frame and Spokane reliever Bill George, a southpaw, walked the next two men intentionally to get at Rhodes, a left-handed batter.

The strategy backfired when Rhodes sent one of George's offerings over the right-centre-field wall. Bob Jenkins got two homers for Spokane in addition to a double and a single in five trips. He drove in five runs.

The Padres, in winning their 20th game in their last 24 starts, got one run in the first frame and then struck for two in the sixth on Rudy Regalado's double and three singles.

The Mounties got their two runs in the eighth on two singles, Charlie White's triple and a wild pitch. Podbielan, in running his record to 4-2, struck out five and walked three. He worked the route.

Surkont had a no-hitter working until the sixth frame, when losing pitcher Joe Stanka tagged him for a two-out, blooper single.

Surkont fanned two and walked none in evening his record at 4-4.

Vada Pinson, Seattle's fleet centrefielder, scored both of the Rainiers' runs, the first in the fourth and the second in the sixth. The solons coupled two of their hits, a fielder's choice and a bungled double play attempt for their lone run in the seventh frame.

Stanka was shoved onto the mound for the Solons after Carl Greene, the scheduled Sacramento starter, injured his knee while warming up for the contest.

Portland was coasting along along with a 4-0 lead before the roof caved in in the seventh, when the Bees got five big runs.

Kenny Tothman's two-run single and Jim McDaniels' three-run, inside-the-park, homer did the damage.

McDaniels also singled in the winning run in the ninth after Portland had tied it up at 5-5 in their half of the seventh. McDaniels' single chased in Carlos Bernier, who had walked and stolen second.

Amateur Tennis Lambs Are Safe

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP)—The amateur tennis lambs are safe for the season. The professional wolf, Jack Kramer, will not get among them.

Why?

"I don't need any players, I've got plenty already," Kramer, the terror of amateur tournament promoters, said Wednesday.

He came to Wimbledon, Wembley and London for a look at tennis courts, not players. He will bring his troupe of pros here in the autumn for a series of tournaments.

Kramer also completed arrangements for a three-week August junket through the Soviet Union.

Swedes Warned Against Group Bronx Cheers

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Karol Lotzy, a representative of the International Federation of Football Associations, today warned Sweden against "organized cheering" during the World Soccer Cup final against Brazil Sunday.

Lotzy attended Sweden's match against West Germany in semi-finals Tuesday as a FIFA observer.

"In my report to FIFA on the match I will point out that even while the match was in progress, the organizers appointed special cheer leaders who went down on the ground and led the cheering," Lotzy said.

"The crowd, of course, can cheer as much as they like—but the cheer leaders must keep off the ground while the match is on. That cannot be allowed."

Pentiction "On The Make"
Packers Lose Ace PlayerBy GEORGE INGLIS
(Courier Sports Editor)

It looks like Pentiction is "on the make" again, out to build another winning hockey club.

Unfortunately, their most brilliant coup proved to be a bit of a disappointment to the Kelowna Packers, since it consisted of signing all-star defenceman Pat Coburn to a two-year contract as manager-player-coach of the V's.

Asked about his feelings on the move, Packers' manager Bob Giordano simply said, "I didn't think he would go down there. Other than that, no comment."

Coach Jack O'Reilly's feeling were much the same — he hadn't felt that "Paddy" would make the move, and the smooth defenceman definitely figured in the club's plans for next year.

The fact that the V's were negotiating with him was no secret. They have been making overtures to him since hockey was in the final stages of last season. In fact, the V's wanted Coburn two years ago, before they picked up playing-coach Hal Tarala, and they have apparently never lost their ardor.

His going will undoubtedly leave a big hole in the Packers' defenceman squad, and his presence will be missed in the dressing-room, but the Packers' manager and coach have been busy as beavers lining up players for the "on to Moscow" season, and they feel they will be able to come up with a stronger team than last year, providing they are still in office.

His team-mates and friends will miss him also, but "Tex" is going to be far too busy to miss them.

He will be trying to make V mean victory again.

NOWHERE BUT UP

One consolation Paddy will have—and he will probably lean on it many a restless night this winter—is the fact that a cellar club has nowhere to go but up.

The Pentiction V's rode into the OSHL on a blaze of glory six short seasons ago, and they rode high, wide and handsome in their second and third years as a club. When they fell flat the following year, and bounced along disconsolately for another two, it was a bitter pill to swallow.

Oh, they had their moments in those years of defeat, such as the wild and woolly seven-game semi-finals against the Packers two years ago, and the odd burst of glory as "spoilers", but it was bitter dregs to the city that had known nothing but sweet victory for the major portion of their hockey career.

The V's, under their new mentor, will have nowhere to go but up. That is one of the appealing points about being in the cellar.

By the same token, the V's new mentor will have to produce or he will have a group of caustic commentators on his neck, and those guys in the Peach City have had a side-lined seat to some of the best in the world, so they won't settle for too much less.

He will have to build heavily, since last year's club numbered several players who were more or less in the transient class. He will have to build down the centre and in goal, in all probability, and both positions are the toughest to fill with adequate senior "A" calibre material.

He will be somewhat hampered in his negotiations by the same blight that Kelowna has faced for the past few years—trying to sell a cellar club to an opinionated hockey player. But it's a long lane that has no ash-barrels.

And in Paddy's own words, "it will be a big challenge."

A BIG WRENCH

According to Paddy, it took a great deal of thought before he made the decision to leave the Orchard City, a place he and his wife have grown very fond of.

However, the guy with a dazzling style is thoroughly aware that the sands of time are running out, and he is convinced that the financial picture presented to him in Pentiction was sufficiently attractive to persuade him to change his locale—and his color scheme.

The difficult aspects of his job are only too clear to him, but they supply the zest, the condiment to the ragout he hopes to whip up into a fancy dish.

Whatever way it goes, it will be a big wrench, losing the guy with the big heart, and the all-out style of play. We'll all miss you, fellow.

Good luck in your new job.

OUT OF THE MAZE

There is one thing we are sure of, out of the maze of conjecture that arises now, as to whether Harry "Hurricane" Smith will return to the Packers this year, and what the other players' plans are for this year—NO NEGOTIATIONS HAVE TAKEN PLACE YET AND THE MONTH IS JULY IN A FEW DAYS!

Last year the Packers started actively seeking hockey players in May. This year it is verging on July and no activity. Last year the club had to start playing Oct. 18, and had plenty of time to warm into action. This year they have to round into shape in one heck of a hurry, in order to represent Canada in Russia.

THIS SITUATION IS DEPLORABLE.

Weather And Wounds Rap
Famed Wimbledon Match

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (CP)—The weather and the injury list attracted the most attention today as the rain-splattered Wimbledon tennis championships moved into the third round.

For almost one-half the field, however, second-round matches will have to be completed before moving on to today's scheduled weather permitting.

Play was called Wednesday with little more than half the day's program completed as cold winds and off-and-on rain hampered the players.

Despite the weather, seeded players who managed to finish their matches came through as expected. Austra's Ashley Cooper, top seeded, defeated Franz Salko of Austria, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Mal Anderson, another Australian who is in the No. 2 spot, took Andres Gimeno of Spain 6-4, 6-4.

Washington	28	36	.438

That gag about the Kansas City A's being a New York Yankee farm club in the American League is wearing so thin there are holes in it.

Particularly since it was an ex-Detroit hand who drove in the winning run, a pair of former Cleveland players who batted in two others and an ex-Injun southpaw who was credited with the victory in that 4-3 decision over Washington Wednesday night.

It was the only AL game played, with rain washing out the others, and hoisted the second place A's within 7½ games of New York with their fifth consecutive victory.

Bill Tuttle delivered the payoff hit for the A's, ramming a bases-loaded single in the ninth to crack a 3-all tie. Frank House, who went to the A's from Detroit with Tuttle, opened the rally with a double and losing reliever Dick Hyde then walked a pair.

Dick Tomaneck (3-3) won his first for Kansas City, getting the final out after the Senator led it in the ninth on a walk and Albie Pearson's triple off Tom Gorman. Hyde now is 4-2 with both defeats by the A's. Tuttle, House, Roger Maris and Preston Ward had five of the A's eight hits. Maris singled, scored the first off starter Pete Ramos. Ward, who came with Maris and Tomaneck from Cleveland, homered for a 3-2 lead in the eighth off Vito Valentini.

Only the Orioles and Tigers actually got some play in among the rained out teams. The Orioles had scored four runs, with homers by Jim Busby and Gus Triandos, off Jim Bunning before the storm hit at Detroit.

ERROR-FILLED GAME
The Braves, who have lost four of their last seven, failed to make a big thing of four San Francisco errors while making it easy for the Giants with two boots in a five-run sixth that broke a scoreless duel. Al Worthington, a starter-reliant in Rigney's search for pitching, blanked the Braves on four hits for seven innings but needed relief help to nail his victory.

A two-run single by Ray Jablonski and a RBI double by Orlando Cepeda were the big blows in the big sixth, when errors by shortstop Johnny Logan and left-fielder Joe Adcock on the same play helped put the skids to Bob Rush (5-3), who had given up only three hits for five innings.

The Giants added two more runs in the eighth and three in the left third-place Giants .002 percentage points behind St. Louis, but both challengers are in a row over the Pirates with only 2½ games back of Milwaukee three-run sixth that backed up kee. Kelowna Shares Interest In Double Wedding At Haney

A double wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's United Church, Haney, on Saturday June 14, with Rev. W. Fearn officiating, when June Sexsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sexsmith, Kelowna, exchanged vows with Marvin Meier, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meier, Hammond. Mary Anne Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kane, Victoria, exchanged vows with Wally Day, son of Dr. and Mrs. Day, Summerland.

Given in marriage by her father, June Sexsmith wore a ballerina length gown in Chantilly lace over satin styled with a nylon chiffon cummerbund. The gown was strapless with lace bolero. The illusion net veil cascaded from a seed pearl tiara. Stephanotis and orchids were in the bride's bouquet.

Maid of honor was Janet Burgess, wearing a pink lace sheath gown over white taffeta with pink chiffon back panel. Lynn Sexsmith was bridesmaid wearing pink nylon and flower girl was Debbie Nittel wearing pink net.

Best man was Mr. Byron Mosdell. Mr. Fred Legath ushered.

A ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace was worn by bride Mary Anne Kane, who was given in marriage by her father. Pleated lace was inset between the panels. The veil misted in graceful folds from a tiara, stephanotis and orchids were in the bride's bouquet.

Marion Hodge as maid of honor wore a blue lace sheath frock over taffeta. Bridesmaid Norma MacKenzie was gowned in blue and flower girl Susy Cameron was in blue net.

Maid of honor carried Shasta pink mums and baby pink roses, the bridesmaids, cream carnations and gladioli spikes and the flower girls carried colonial bouquets of baby pink roses.

Best man for bridegroom Wally Day was Mr. Ken Hozar. Mr. Gerry, Bernhardt ushered.

A reception was held in the Hammond Hall where two, two-tiered wedding cakes centred the brides' tables.

Mrs. Sexsmith wore a gown of steel blue silk with white accessories and pink roses in her corsage. Mrs. Meier chose a light blue net gown over taffeta for her son's wedding with light blue accessories and pink roses corsage. Mrs. Day wore biege with Talisman roses in corsage, and Mrs. Kane wore biege and brown.

For the wedding trip to California Mrs. Meier wore a navy and white sack suit with white accessories, and for the wedding trip to Seattle, Mrs. Day wore a two piece pink ensemble with pink accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Meier will live in Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Day will live in Vancouver.

an Easter egg hunt held in her garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lynn, with their two children, David and Elizabeth, motored to Vancouver for a short holiday.

Fourteen Cubs of the 1st Glenmore Cub Pack enjoyed an afternoon's fishing at Beaver Lake on Saturday, June 21. Cubmaster Harold Willett, along with the following members of the group committee supervised the boys: Messrs. Sam Pearson, Russ Hawley, Bert Hume, Fred Alcock, and Scoutmaster Gordon Spencer.

After fishing all afternoon the boys met at an island at the end of the lake and had their supper. The majority of the boys caught fish and for some of the Cubs it was the first fish ever caught on their own, which naturally caused much excitement.

The day's outing was made possible by the generosity of Mr. Bill Sinclair-Thompson, of Beaver Lake Lodge, who supplied five boats and motors as well as a case of pop for the boys.

Saturday's fishing trip for the Cubs will be a day to remember.

Fine Arts School Opening In July

The Paddock Summer School of Fine Arts is looking forward to the opening of the first session of the season. It starts July 4 and continues through to July 15. Registration will be accepted until the opening date.

Everything points to a most interesting ten days of work and play.

The countryside is beautiful, with the contrasting shades of blue in the water, mountains, and sky, and the mellow ochre dryness of the grasslands. The painter cannot help but be inspired.

The potter and sculptor will probably find his subject matter in the rhythmic flowing lines of nature and again in the beautiful colors that surround him.

For this first session, the instructor in painting and ceramics will be Miss J. T. Brown of the "Studio" in Vernon who has brought many a neophyte along the path of accomplishment. She is an enthusiastic person outdoors as well as in the studio and can't help but bring out the best in the students in her charge. In recent years she has conducted many sketching groups of her own.

In the weaving department the instructor will be Evelyn Middleton, who along with the late Mrs. J. Coors, created many attractive items under the name of Sunnywold Handicrafts.

Both instructors are ready to look after both beginners and advanced students.

Students may commute or take up residence at the Paddock. There is tent and trailer space as well as cottages.

The Paddock is right on the lakeshore so there are adequate facilities for boating, swimming, fishing, hiking, loafing. Bring the family for a new and different and complete family holiday whether it is a picnic before the class or a two-week stay. For more complete information, contact the Paddock, Okanagan Centre.

Encouraging and pleasant comments from patients were reported regarding the spring tea held at the home of Mrs. O. Jennens on May 21, when members of the ladies' auxiliary to CARS met at the home of the president, Mrs. T. F. McWilliams on June 17.

A highlight of the tea which caused much interest and amused comment, were the centennial costumes worn by the members of the auxiliary. Transportation for patients was provided by Mrs. F. W. Britain Pledges Support To Effect Lebanon Peace

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has pledged full support of United Nations efforts in Lebanon as "the only effective way" to obtain peace there.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd made the pledge in the House of Commons. He was replying to Labor party questions expressing fears Britain might intervene militarily in Lebanon.

Lloyd said President Camille Chamoun's government has not requested British armed help.

In reply to a question from Labor member Arthur Henderson, Lloyd said Britain would not act contrary to the UN charter or established rules of international law.

Henderson, expressing dissatisfaction with the reply, said: "I am asking something quite specific. You will recall what happened at Suez. I want an assurance that the government will not participate in any military intervention except upon the full authority of the Security Council or the General Assembly."

Lloyd said he had already given "a very carefully considered answer."

BABY UNHURT

SHOTS, Scotland (CP)—Ellish O'Connor, 21-months-old, pushed open a window while her 19-year-old sister was doing the housework, and fell 20 feet to the ground outside her home in this Lanarkshire village. The baby was unhurt.

Suez Rebel Group Said "Repentant"

LONDON (CP)—Word that the survivors of the "Suez rebellion" are ready to compose their differences with the Conservative party was received with scant enthusiasm Wednesday by party headquarters.

The five members of Parliament are the last of the eight-man Suez group, which renounced the Conservative whip 13 months ago to sit as Independent Conservatives. They declared themselves out of sympathy with Britain's withdrawal from the 1956 Suez Canal operation and denounced her Middle East policies in general as contributing to a decline in British prestige. In an announcement Monday the group said it has noted a continuing trend of events which goes some way toward halting the "decline in Britain's prestige, influence and power since the war."

In reply, the Conservative central office said the applications of the five rebel MPs for reinstatement would be considered individually on their merits.

'Copter Crash Kills Eleven

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Eleven persons were killed when a French Air Force helicopter crashed after colliding with a fighter plane in the Grande Kabylie area about 60 miles east of Algiers, a military communiqué said tonight.

The pilot of the fighter escaped by parachute.

MUTTERINGS BEING HEARD

Is Country's Foreign Policy Field Over-Extending Itself?

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Is Canada biting off more than it can chew in the foreign policy field?

A few mutterings are beginning to be heard among politicians here that this country of 17,000,000 population may be over-extending itself.

This vague feeling is not widespread by any means and is unlikely to come out into the open in the form, say, of a Commons speech advocating any such thing as isolationism or a "fortress Canada."

The government, in fact, is marching in the opposite direction and with the apparent full support of the Opposition.

HINT OF SPEEDUP

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Saturday in the Commons that the West must and will counter-act the new Soviet economic challenge and he indicated clearly that Canada will play its part.

This may signal a stepped-up foreign aid program by Canada in Asia and Africa.

Mr. Diefenbaker's statement came in the same week that Canada dispatched 10 United Nations observers to Lebanon and officials indicated that this country is ready to send police troops to the Middle East nation if requested to do so by the UN.

On top of that, it was announced that Canada will participate in East-West talks at Geneva next month on methods of policing atomic tests.

There thus seems no lack to the number of tasks Canada is prepared to carry out in its foreign policy field. A few politicians are slightly disturbed about this and wonder where Canada will eventually draw the line.

The number of Canadian tasks accomplished or still in progress comprises an imposing list. Many of them are admittedly on a small scale but they reach into every section of the underdeveloped free world.

Canada has supplied more than $4,000,000,000 in financial aid to other countries since the Second World War.

It has contributed to numerous UN programs and funds. It will give $35,000,000 this year to the Colombo Plan for Southeast Asian economic development.

1,122 PEACEMAKERS

More than 1,000 Canadian troops are helping to police the Israeli-Egyptian border. Another 100 are serving on the Indochina truce commissions. Fourteen more are on the Palestine truce commission, another eight on the Kashmir truce team.

Thousands of Canadian troops fought for the UN cause in Korea. Others are serving in Europe for NATO. Canada has provided hundreds of millions of dollars worth of military equipment to European allies and trained NATO airmen in this country.

It is supplying new aid to the West Indies and to the new Commonwealth country of Ghana. It is training scores of Asian technicians.

Sweet Treat

And so easy with fast-rising Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast... a treat that will bring demands for "more, please!"

Honey Bun Coffee Cake

1. In an 8-inch square cake pan, melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Drizzle with 1/2 cup honey and sprinkle with 1/2 cup broken salted nuts.

2. Scald 1/2 cup milk.

Remove from heat and stir in 1/4 cup honey, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup shortening.

Cool to lukewarm.

3. In the meantime, measure into a large bowl 1/2 cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar.

and stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with contents of 1 envelope Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well. Stir the lukewarm milk mixture and 1 well-beaten egg.

1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Into the yeast mixture, sift together once 2 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, 3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon.

Sift dry ingredients into yeast mixture and stir until well blended—about 1 minute.

4. Spoon mixture into prepared cake pan. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 1/2 hours. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375°, about 35 minutes. Turn out of pan immediately. Serve warm.

ROME (Reuters)—Coins tossed by tourists into a city fountain belong to the municipality and it is an offence for anyone else to fish them out, Italy's Supreme Court ruled. The court upheld an appeal by the public prosecutor against two lower court decisions which acquitted an Italian who took coins from a fountain in Genoa.

DRIVER SAFE BY ONLY INCHES

Truck driver Peter Lanue, escaped death or injury by a few inches when his trailer plunged along with a 300-foot bridge in a Thames river gorge near Glencoe, Ont. The cab and driver had reached the safety of the other side when the bridge gave way.

Expert Sees Seaway Creating Gas Market

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—An American gas expert says the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway can boost Canadian industrial development and foster the growth of natural gas as a fuel for industry.

C. S. Stackpole, managing director of the American Gas Association, today told the annual meeting of the Canadian Gas Association that seaway-induced industry growth will be one of the major assets to Canada's natural gas industry.

"There will obviously be major use made of natural gas in such industries as cement, pulp and paper, ore reduction and smelting and other industries which are either regional in their distribution patterns or which are economically immovable because of the natural resources upon which their operations are based. "I am sure that over the long term, the availability of large volumes of natural gas through the trans-Canada pipeline will greatly enhance the industrial development of the areas north of the Great Lakes."

INCENTIVE NOT ADEQUATE
But a Canadian oil industry executive says the present and future demand for natural gas in Canada, in relation to reserves now available and to be discovered, does not provide an adequate incentive for continued exploration and development.

E. D. Loughney of Toronto, senior vice-president of the British American Oil Company Limited, said Wednesday that unless substantial export markets for gas are developed soon, the survival of many Canadian oil companies will be placed at stake.

Young Teacher Planning Swim Of Okanagan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Patricia Wicks, 19-year-old physical education student at the University of British Columbia, Wednesday swam from Bowen Island at the entrance to Howe Sound to English Bay, in west end Vancouver.

Her coach, Dr. Ed Cline, estimated the distance at 12 miles. Because of unfavorable conditions, however, he said Miss Wicks probably swam 14.

The WORLD at a GLANCE

DROWNED IN BUCKET

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A one-year-old boy tumbled from his bed into a mop bucket full of water and was drowned Wednesday. Mrs. Albin E. Hurt, 17, said she was cleaning her three-room house when she decided to rest for the moment. When Mrs. Hurt returned to the room 10 minutes later, she found her son head down in the bucket.

DOUBLE DUTY

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Firemen today put out one house fire, then spotted another in the house next door and doused it too. The second blaze had spread when a cooking pan burned dry. Firemen found it had been left untended when the occupants ran over to watch the fire next door.

DE MILLE BETTER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cecil B. de Mille's condition is "definitely improved," his physician says. The 77-year-old producer was taken to hospital last week suffering from a circulatory disorder. His doctor said de Mille will remain in hospital another week.

MANAGED SINGERS

EAST SETAUKET, N.Y. (AP)—James A. Davidson, 56, who managed such concert singers as Lily Pons and Rise Stevens, died Wednesday. Other clients were Margaret Truman, Lauritz Melchior, Helen Traubel, Eleanor Steber, Leonard Warren and the Robert Shaw chorale.

LOAN FOR INDIA

NEW DELHI (AP)—India and the United States signed an agreement today giving India a $20,000,000 loan to develop a new iron ore field on the east coast. The loan also will help finance port improvements at Visakhapatnam and construction of a railroad from the ore field to the port.

SINGER FAILING

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Roberta Linn's condition has become worse. Doctors say she is critically ill. She was taken to hospital Sunday with a respiratory infection. Miss Linn was formerly bandleader Lawrence Welk's champagne lady.

BIG SQUID

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A giant squid, said to be the largest taken in this area, is being studied by scientists at the University of Miami marine laboratory. The 43-foot, 250-pound squid was found floating near the Bahamas by a U.S. fish and wildlife service patrol boat. Giant squids live deep in the sea and are rarely seen on the surface, only.

Diefenbaker Ponders Montreal Oil Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—Government experts are studying the economics and the possibilities of a crude oil pipeline to Montreal refineries.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, giving the first official indication of this, said Wednesday in the Commons the question is always receiving the attention and the consideration of federal and provincial experts.

"When a decision is arrived at, the House of course will be made aware of it," he added in a reply to Hazen Argue, CCF House leader. However, he gave no hint of what the government's decision might be.

WEST EXPORTS CUT

Mr. Argue had asked whether the government is planning action in the light of cuts in shipments of Canadian crude to the northwestern United States. Shell Oil and McColl-Frontenac have announced they plan to reduce Canadian imports to Washington state refineries in July because they can obtain crude oil at cheaper prices in Borneo and Indonesia.

The interprovincial oil pipeline now carries prairie crude to Sarnia, Ont., and Toronto. Presumably, to start with, it could be extended to Montreal.

However, there is no indication the government believes oil piped from the Prairies to Montreal could compete economically with deliveries there by tanker from Venezuela and by pipeline from Portland, Me.

POWER, AGREEMENT

Meanwhile as the Commons reached the half-way mark of the eight-day budget debate there were other developments in the Commons:

1. Agriculture Minister Harkness said he expects an agreement will be signed in the "very near future" with Saskatchewan for construction of the $180,000,000 South Saskatchewan River power and irrigation project. Mr. Diefenbaker said the reply to a Saskatchewan request for a $20,000,000 federal loan to help finance the power phase will be sent to Premier Douglas in the next couple of days.

2. Justice Minister Fulton introduced a bill tightening up the law on the humane slaughter of food animals by requiring that animals must be made unconscious by a humane method and then killed instantaneously.

3. Transport Minister Hees said the government is considering amendments to the Canada Shipping Act dealing with use of pilots on Great Lakes vessels. U.S. legislation now before Congress would require all Great Lakes shipping to carry licensed pilots.

Mr. Hees said Canada hopes for "satisfactory reciprocal arrangements" with the U.S., but believes licensed pilots are not needed everywhere on the lakes.

INSURANCE PAYMENT

Meanwhile, in the Senate, final approval was given to a government bill authorizing federal payments to start July 1 to provincial hospital insurance plans. Senator Thomas Crerar (L-Manitoba) warned that spending public money will not solve every social problem.

He did not oppose the hospital insurance legislation, but said it will be Canada's doctors, not government experts, who will determine whether the plan will be administered with reasonable efficiency.

Sask. Balloting On Egg Mart In Fourth Day

REGINA (CP)—Voting on a contentious proposal for a producer-controlled egg marketing board entered its fourth day in Saskatchewan today.

The voting, light so far, continues until July 5 and is open to all commercial egg producers, probably about 30,000. For the plan to go into effect, 65 per cent of those who vote must be in favour. Ballots will be counted July 21.

CMHC President Claims Staff Cuts Hiked Efficiency, Economy

OTTAWA (CP)—Scottish-born Stewart Bates, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, has caused quite a stir with his staff cuts.

In an appearance last week before the Senate finance committee, he said he cut the staff of the crown-owned company from 2,300 to 1,800 in two years in the name of "efficiency and economy."

OFF WARPATH

On the warpath against the Trans-Canada Pipeline company, Chief Ernest Couchie, of the Ojibway tribe of Nipissing, Ont., has been ordered out of battle by the Department of Indian Affairs. The chief emerged as winner in his efforts to obtain more than the company originally offered for right to put the pipeline through the Ojibway reservation, but he believes he lost a major point when it was the Indian Affairs department that decided the issue instead of a vote by the tribesmen.

U.S. Will Go Ahead With Atom Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today notified Moscow that U.S. experts will be in Geneva July 1 as agreed for technical atomic talks.

The U.S. move was agreed upon at a meeting Wednesday night between President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles.

Western diplomats were surprised Wednesday when the Soviet Union did an about-face less than 24 hours after indicating it would have Russian and East European experts on hand at Geneva where the technical talks on ways to police a nuclear-test ban are to open next Tuesday.

Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko handed U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson a note in Moscow saying Soviet nuclear experts would not attend unless the West took a position in advance that a ban on nuclear weapons tests is needed.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A local chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has presented a flag to a new hospital here.

Errant Seal Reported To Be Swimming Home

RIVER CANARD, Ont. (CP)—The sea lion escaped from London eight days ago by wriggling through a break in an unfinished wire enclosure.

Cyril was spotted in Toledo Tuesday. He possibly was turned back by rapids in the Maumee River which runs south from Toledo. He was seen later in the Portage River 35 miles away. Swimming along at 15 miles an hour he apparently travelled 70 miles to reach here Wednesday. The trip in 24 hours would be almost double that of his daily average to date in the summer's first marathon swim.

To get home he will have to go up the Detroit River and into Lake St. Clair, then find the Thames River and head upstream towards London.

Helpful Hints
for Hurried
Housewives

- 1.—Take precautions when storing woollens during the summer months. One of the most important is to store clean garments because food stains and dirt attract moths.
- 2.—Pack frozen food in cardboard cartons or wrap in paper when defrosting the home freezer. This prevents as much thawing as possible while the food is in warmer air.
- 3.—An easy way to shape hamburger patties is to roll ground beef on a flat surface and cut into rounds with a cookie cutter.
